First Presbyterian Church,
Charlotte, New York

June 26, 1852 - Sept. 1894

Records of the first presbyterian church in the village of Charlotte, with a brief sketch of its origin.

The following sketch is an extract from the journal of the Rev A. Ferguson; under whose ministry, as a Missionary of the Rochester presbytery, the Church had its origin.

When I entered upon my missionary labors, under the auspices of the Rochester presbytery, May 20th 1851, I went forth, Abraham, not knowing whither I went.
I directed my course, first, to Irondequoit, to a neighborhood, where it was said some of the board of missions, a Sabbath school had lately been organized and some of the people were anxious to have preaching. I wandered on, a solitary pedestrian, until I came to the house of a Mr Woodward, I there made inquiries respecting the condition the neighborhood. I found there had been no preaching in the place, for several weeks, that they had preached.

only occasionally, and far between. That the next Sabbath a young man, from the Rochester Baptist University, was expected to preach for them, (having been invited by Mrs Woodworth, who is herself a member of the first Baptist church Rochester) I made known to them the nature of my mission, and asked their opinion, as to the prospects of usefulness. I was recommended to a Mr Grant, a Presbyterian brother residing in the neighborhood, who could, probably, "tell me all about it." Delighted that there was such a brother in the place, I went on my way until I found him. He told me several things about it, and expressed a strong desire, that I should preach there, as often as possible. At his request, I left an appointment to preach on the second Sabbath. I had Carthage and Charlotte in view, but knew nothing of either, except their names.

I learned from him, something of the history of Carthage, and particularly the failure that attended former attempts to build up a church there.

The spoke of Charlotte, as a place where, "Satan has his seat."

When, notwithstanding, the blessing of God upon well directed and persevering effort, something might be done, to better its condition. I passed on towards Charlotte, and was delighted with the appearance of the place, as viewed from the heights of Bronck-quoit, on the opposite bank of the river. I crossed the River, not Jordon, but Genesee, and found myself in a land flowing, not, with "milk and honey," but, with infernal spirits, whose ^{long continuing} overflow, had given luxuriance to vice, and had poisoned virtue, except, on here and there, a hillock, which reared its head above the poisonous and destructive flood.

But even in Charlotte, where I could no longer doubt, "Satan had his seat," I found "a few names, who had not defiled their garments." Who were struggling to raise a bulwark, of defence, against the torrent of vice, which was overflowing the community, and threatened the destruction of all that was virtuous. These, were a little flock; but having no taste for the "sour grapes of Sodom," or the "bitter waters of Gornorah," they were hungry and thirsting after the bread, and water of eternal life.

I made known to them the nature of my mission, and the object of my coming. They treated me with great kindness, and seemed much pleased to receive so unexpected a visitor.

And I was equally pleased to learn, as I believed, that the Lord had been there before me, and had prepared the way for my coming.

More than two months previous, Bro Thomas Bellamy, of Pennfield, visited the place, and spent a few Sabbaths there. During his stay, a Meeting was called to take into consideration the propriety of attempting to build a church edifice, in the village.

The Meeting was well attended, and all were in favor of making the attempt. But as some of those present were Presbyterians, and some Methodists, the question very naturally came up, What shall we call the contemplated church. For most were opposed to a free church in the broad sense.

The Presbyterians said to their Methodist brethren, "If you can raise the larger amount for its erection, the church shall be called Methodist, and if we can raise the larger sum, it shall be called Presbyterian. To this, the Methodist brethren seemed ready to assent. On examination, it was apparent, that the Presbyterians could raise the greater sum. The Methodists then said, "Go on, brethren, we want to see a church of some

*When I deem it proper to note, though with regret, that although our Methodist brethren subscribe, in all, one hundred and thirty-five dollars, as soon as it was certain that a Presbyterian church would be built, they withdrew, and commenced building a church of their own order. The aid promised to us, was of course withheld. Their church is now in progress of erection. God bless the enterprise, and forgive the misguided zeal of its projectors. May our evangelical denomination in the place. This apparent harmony of feeling, led the Presbyterians to make the following proposal: We will build a Presbyterian church, which shall be open for you, whenever it is not occupied by ourselves, which for some time to come, will not probably be more than half of the time, and if you will assist us in building, we will refund your money, whenever you are able to build for yourselves.

This seemed to give general satisfaction. A society was organized called the first Presbyterian society of Charlotte. A board of trustees was appointed, consisting of some from both denominations, to circulate subscriptions, and to transact the secular business of the society, and the meeting was adjourned.

This was the state of things on my arrival, two months later. It seemed to me then, (nor has my conviction been weakened, but confirmed, by subsequent labors) that the Lord had opened there a door, at which, he would have me enter. With this conviction, I concluded to remain among them, at least a sufficient time to make thorough trial of what might be done. I did remain, and do still remain, endeavouring to encourage the hearts, and strengthen the hands of the brethren. After preaching and visiting among them, a few weeks, I suggested to the trustees, that now was their time, in my opinion, to circulate the subscription for the erection of the Church. That my presence among them, as the almoner of the benevolence of fellow men, and Christians, who felt interested in them, would encourage the people to more vigorous effort, and greater liberality, and that, that my stay or departure, would be determined by the expression given of their desire for a church, and for the ministry of the gospel, by their subscriptions, for the church.

A paper was immediately circulated, and they succeeded in getting subscriptions in the village, and its vicinity, to the amount of $1200, 100 more than was expected could be raised, by the utmost stretch of their capacity.

After a delay of several weeks, rendered necessary by the absence of one and another of the board of Missions, whose influence and counsel could not be dispensed with, I spent several weeks in soliciting aid from individual members of Rochester City^{and} Churches, with the assistance of the trustees, I received subscriptions, in Rochester, to the amount of five hundred dollars, as follows, First Church 305 dollars, Brick Church 150 dollars, Washington Street Church 30 dollars, Third Church 25 dollars. I also spent some time among the Scotch Old School Presbyterians of Caledonia, from whom I received 135 dollars, I received from Mrs W. W. Wadsworth, of Genesee, 45 dollars. And from Mrs Charlotte Brinkerhoff of New York City, 50 dollars. And from Pres Church Ogden 15 dollars. And several smaller donations from various sources. A draft of a house was then procured, proposals received and the house let, to be finished on the first day of January 1852, but owing to unforeseen circumstances, it was not completed, until June following. In the mean time, I preached every Sabbath morning, at the district school house. On the 21st of June 1852, the Church edifice was dedicated to the worship of the true God, and a Church was organized consisting of fifteen members, most of whom had recently removed to Charlotte, from Rochester, Adams,

Sacketts Harbor and Oswego, by a Commission from Rochester presbytery, appointed for that purpose -

So Signally did the great Head of the church, bless the efforts of his little flock, in Charlotte, to build up Zion, and cultivate her waste places, that in less than one year after they commenced circulating their subscription for the church, it was neatly finished, and consecrated to the worship of Almighty God - And nearly free of debt. Showing, clearly, that the people "had a mind to work", and that God took pleasure, in the work of their hands.

May this state of things long continue. And May God get glory to his great Name, in causing this vine which his own hand has planted, to take deep root, and become a large tree, under whose refreshing shade, multitudes may take shelter, and by whose celestial fruit, multitudes of starving souls, may be fed, and nourished up, unto eternal life.

The 1st presbyterian church of Charlotte was organized by a Commission appointed by the presbytery of Rochester for that purpose, at their annual meeting held at the Brick church Rochester January 1852 on the 24 day of June 1852 at the new church edifice in Charlotte village. Historical note No. 1.

"Concise Statement of the most important incidents" in the history of this Church for the year ending April 1, 1875.

(1). Congregations good and Prayer Meetings and Sunday School well attended.

(2). In the latter part of the year a prayer meeting on the Sabbath after Sunday School was commenced which promises to do good.

(3). Increase in Collections for Church Boards ten per cent.

(4). A debt of between five and six hundred dollars has been paid which this feeble congregation has been carrying for several years.

(5). A lot has been secured and several hundred dollars subscribed towards a parsonage.

(6). The past has been a year marked rather by the edification of the "flock", than by the ingathering from the ranks of unprofessed Christians and the ungodly.

At the same time we must add that in our judgment quite a number of persons in the congregation have received the saving touch of the Spirit of Christ and only need the confession of the lips in public and obedience to the Lord in remembering Him in the Sacrament.

For several weeks, previous to the week of prayer, our congregation was very full, and many Historical seemed deeply interested in the all important truths pertaining to the salvation of their souls, as they were most faithfully presented to them from week to week to from the pulpit by the Rev D.D.M. Call our Stated supply:

our week of prayer. commenced by a mutual understanding with our Methodist Brethren to observe it by holding union meetings each evening during the week, alternating between the two churches: from the commencement the attendance was greater than either of the churches had the capacity to accommodate comfortably: our meetings were characterized from the first with great solemnity, & apparently with a clear apprehension of the necessity of repentance & faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, in order to be saved from their sins: these meetings continued for over eight weeks, during which time, Bro. M. Call, preached 39 sermons over 100 individuals believe they have been forgiven of their sins during the progress of these meetings & now openly confess Christ before the world: J. Eaton, Clerk
