Methodist Episcopal

Church

Penfield, N. Y.

Robert A. Delorme, Pastor

1936 - 1937

Foreword

The one great aim of the Church is to bring humanity into that close relationship with one another as brothers and sisters and into that great relationship with God as our Father, and Jesus Christ, our Brother. To establish these relations we should know about our Church and its members. Furthermore this Directory will give the members a better understanding of the past history of the Church and its present activities. We trust that as it goes into our Church homes it will be of interest and service to each member and friend.

We take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation to the advertisers, whose cooperation made this Directory possible.

The Town of Penfield

IN describing the town of Penfield as it was previous to the years 1824, an early writer of local history said: "It is a post township in the north east corner of Monroe County, ten miles east of Rochester. On the west it embraces a part of 'Teoronto Bay', the boundary towards Brighton, and has some streamlets that run into the lake, and one, the largest, into the head of the Bay. The area of the town (which then included Webster) is about sixty-seven square miles, and it has the greatest aggregate population of anyone in the county (population in 1820 was 3,224). The land all descends northward." Such was a reasonable and fair description of Penfield as it was in 1824. In its present limits Penfield is about six and one-third miles in length, and four and one-sixth miles wide, giving it an area of about twenty-five and one-half square miles, comprising twenty-four thousand four hundred and twenty acres. Its surface is rolling and in the west it is much broken. Irondequoit Creek flows through the south west corner and forms part of the western boundary, it falls about ninety feet in the village of Penfield. The soil is comprised of drift-sand and argillaceous loam, with considerable clay in some places, rich and productive, with a generally level surface, though slightly rolling in some places.

The original proprietors of the town of Penfield were Phelps and Gorham who acquired title from Mass. and the Indians of this state. About 1790 they sold the township to General Jonathan Fasset, a Vermont Yankee, who visited his purchase and made some small improvements, but the situation of the town and its material districts were too much even for a Yankee and he abandoned his purchase and subsequently sold it to Mr. Ham, of New Jersey, for less than he paid for it. Proprietor Ham sold the town to General Silas Pepoon, reserving to himself a two hundred acre tract a mile north of Penfield Village. Pepoon sold to Samuel P. Lloyd and the latter in 1810 disposed of all that remained to Daniel Penfield. March 30, 1810 the town was organized and named for the landed proprietor, Daniel Penfield, who was a Commissary in a New York Regiment during the Revolutionary war.

Caleb Hopkins made the first permanent settlement near Irondequoit Falls as early as 1791. Long before this, however, hunters and trappers had settled temporarily along the shores of Irondequoit bay and creek. They were a wild and reckless class, who associated and mixed with the Indians. They bought no lands, but squatted there with their families in rude log cabins, and, clearing only small garden patches, they followed trapping entirely as a livelihood. They raised large families, some of them with Indian wives, and as settlements became numerous they packed up and moved to the mouth of the Genesee river. The settlement of all this country round about was preceded by this wild element which hovered between the two extremes of savage and civilized life. In 1804, John Hipp, of New Jersey, purchased the property of Mr. Ham which he had reserved for himself and moved on it with his wife and six children. Among others who migrated to Penfield in 1804 were Josiah Kellogg, Daniel Stillwell, Benjamin Minor, Henry

Paddock and Herrington Baker. The first birth was that of a child to Mrs. Fiske and the first death that of B. Stillwell in 1804. Joseph Hatch taught the first school, Daniel Stillwell kept the first Inn 1806, and William McKinstry the first store. The first mills were built by Daniel Penfield. Irondequoit Creek furnished excellent water power and upon its banks many industries were early started. The old trip hammer was started in 1800 by Mr. Bronson. Nathaniel Case and Nelson Fuller built mills along the creek about 1815. About 1805 Captain Ben. Minor built a fulling mill on the creek and in 1815 a cloth factory was erected. The first town meeting was held at the school house April 20, 1811, at which time William McKinstry was elected supervisor and Brooks Mason town clerk. Dr. Van Dake commenced the practice of medicine in Penfield in 1804, died in 1810; Dr. Rich in 1808, died in 1814; Dr. Arms in 1810, died in 1838. The first church organized was the Baptist Church, in 1804, and the first preacher, Rev. Elijah Case the same year. A post office was located here previous to the war of 1812, with the mail carried on horseback to and from Pittsford. The old school house which stood on the site of the Presbyterian church building was the first one in town, and was memorable as the place of the first town election and the first religious meetings and church organizations. The Presbyterian church was built over an old cemetery. The graves with stones were removed to the then new cemetery (on Oakwood) and the unmarked graves were left. The bones were still there when the cellar for the present apartment building was built.

The above history is very fragmentary but sufficient to picture for us the interesting beginning of our little town. At the present time Penfield is populated by about 3,000 inhabitants, some of which have moved to this beautiful little village from Rochester. It has a thriving business center and is served by five churches including the Baptist Church of East Penfield.

Brief Historical Sketch

HISTORY OF METHODISM IN PENFIELD

EARLY records tell us that Methodism in Penfield began in the year of our Lord 1806, when a class of seven members was formed by the Rev. Stephen S. Graves from Lima. They met at the home of John Hipp but later the place of meeting was changed to Penfield Center. The seven original members of the Class were: John Tillotson, who became Class Leader; Lucy Owen, Phoebe Chase, Phoebe Hill, Sarah Barrett, Lucy Williams and Lois Mann.

In 1829 or 1830 the first Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Penfield was organized at the home of James Chase, located a little south of Penfield Mills, by the Rev. Philo Woodworth and the charge was considered as belonging to the Victor Circuit. It was soon changed, however, to the Penfield Circuit by the Rev. Jonathan Hustis as it has since remained. For about two years they met at the home of Jonathan Barrett, south of the corner. Afterward, site of Advent church, the old Penfield store, about fifty rods west of the corner, later converted into a foundry, was used. In 1834 two-thirds of the Globe Building, on the North west corner, was purchased and fitted up for services which were held in that edifice until the present building was completed and dedicated June 29th, 1843, by the Rev. Samuel Lucky, D. D. of Rochester. This Building is a wooden structure north of the corner having a seating capacity of four hundred and costing nine thousand dollars including the lot.

The first pastor was the Rev. Philo Woodworth and those who succeed him with the number of years of their pastorates are as follows:

“Disciple Winners”

Spurgeon once said, “Suppose someone should say, ‘I am a fisherman but I have never caught a fish.’ You would wonder how he could be called a fisherman.”

Let us suppose someone said to us, “I am a doctor, but I have never attended a patient.” Or another says, “I am a merchant, but I have never sold anything.” Another, “I am a locomotive engineer, but I have never run a locomotive.”

Yet we say, “I am a Christian but I have never won a disciple for the Master.” We forget that Jesus never called anyone to come after him that he did not also send out to win others. His words, “Follow me—” were always followed with, “Go ye—” What right have we to claim to be his disciples if we let week after week, and year after year slip by, without even winning one single disciple for him?

How easy it is to say we are “too busy” others have much more time than we. Or, others can do this much easier than we can. Some even say, “we pay the preacher to do that for us.” How easy it is to push aside our primary responsibilities, which are in reality our most blessed opportunities, and let our lives be filled with secondary things.

Let every loyal follower of the Christ who claims Penfield church as his home, seek earnestly in these coming weeks to win at least one disciple for the Master. Set your heart on someone. Talk it over with the pastor, and make for your aim, the bringing of at least one into the fellowship of our church on Easter Sunday.

Our Church

PENFIELD M. E. CHURCH

MY CHURCH

I dreamed a church so broad,
That travellers on a weary road,
Will find wide-open smiling doors,
And shelter from a world that roars;
With walls that stand so far apart,
It may fold a city to its heart.

I dream a church so deep,
The mystic Christ it still may keep,
For men, whose days are filled with things,
Till lost to a universe that sings;
For little lads, who, in their play,
Will learn to love the place they pray.

I dream a church so tall,
It is nothing very strange at all,
There, where arches rise with grace,
To see the shining of His face;
For, here, beside the city street,
Heaven and my church seem to meet.

A church as large as this, will be
Too small for him who cannot see,
That his church may be mine as well,
Tho' far apart our minds may dwell;
But never his and mine alone,
For Christ makes room for everyone.

L. B. R.

We welcome you to worship in our Church; to commune with God; to enjoy rich Spiritual Fellowship, to receive strength and courage and the everlasting peace and joy of abiding love.

YOUR SANCTUARY

I stand serene beside the struggling marts
 Of trade, and towering temples built to greed,
 Where dazzling gold rates more than human need—
 And plumb the bitter depths of hungry hearts.
 Where cruel, deadening strife for gain and power
 And self have made life cheap and things the goal,
 When flesh has stilled the music of the soul,
 I lure you in to sit with God an hour.

I lure you in to lift your sense of worth,
 To give you vision, fill your soul with life,
 Reveal the Christ-like God who walks the earth
 With anguish in his eyes from human strife.
 I send you forth, in love, His truth to carry
 With joyous hope. I am your Sanctuary.

WALTER LYMAN FRENCH, Ogden, Utah.

NEW COURAGE

Whence then comes new courage,
 In the hour of direst need?
 What shall spur the fainting spirit
 To the hard, heroic deed?

Comes it from some inner fountain,
 Ever drained, yet ever flowing;
 Giving grim determination,
 That the feet may keep on going?

Comes it from some ray of starlight,
 Shining down in blackest night;
 One lone ray of hope eternal,
 Filling hearts with steady light?

More than these a voice, a handclasp,
 Smile of comrade in the fray,
 Walking step by step beside you,
 Through the darkness into day.

LET ME LIVE SIMPLY

Let me live simply,
Casting out care,
Anchored to duty,
Friendship, and prayer.

Let me live freely,
Bursting self's bars,
Comrade of gardens,
Music and stars.

Let me live faithfully,
Loyal to all—
God—and the children—
Brutes, great and small.

Let me live hopefully,
Child of the morn,
Foe of the doubter,
Hater of scorn.

Let me live bravely—
Tenderly, too—
Till at the twilight
Life's dream comes true!

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK

"Christ has no hands but our hands,
 To do His work today;
 He has no feet but our feet,
 To lead men in His way;
 He has no tongues but our tongues,
 To tell men how He died;
 He has no help but our help,
 To bring them to His side.

What if our hands are busy
 With other work than His?
 What if our feet are walking
 Where sin's allurements is?
 What if our tongues are speaking
 Of things His lips would spurn?
 How can we hope to help Him
 And hasten His return?"

SUCCESS—WHAT IS SUCCESS?

It's doing your job the best you can
 And being just to your fellow man;
 It's fighting staunchly but being square,
 It's keeping clean and it's playing fair;
 It's making money but holding friends
 And staying true to your aims and ends.
 It's figuring how and learning why
 And looking forward and thinking high.
 And dreaming little and doing much;
 It's keeping always in closest touch
 With what is finest in word and deed
 It's being thorough though making speed.
 It's daring blithely the field of chance
 While making of labor a brave romance.
 It's struggling on with a will to win,
 But taking life with a cheerful grin.
 It's sharing sorrows, and work, and mirth,
 And making better this good old earth.
 Serving always through strain and stress,
 Doing your noblest—that's Success.

"‘Father, where shall I work today?’
 And my love flowed warm and free,
 And he pointed me out a tiny spot
 And said, ‘tend that for me.’
 And I answered quickly, ‘Oh, no, not there,
 Why no one would ever see,
 No matter how well the work was done.
 Not that little place for me?’
 And the word he spoke, it was not stern,
 He answered me tenderly;
 ‘Ah little one, search that heart of thine.
 Art thou working for them or for me?
 Nazareth was a little town,
 And so was Galilee.’”

“GIVING AGAIN”

“Giving is living,” the angel said.
 “Go feed to the hungry sweet charity’s bread.”
 “And must I keep giving and giving again?”
 My selfish and querulous answer ran.
 “Oh, no,” said the angel, her eyes pierced me through
 “Just give ’till the Master stops giving to you.”
