WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE?

by S.M. Shoemaker
Rector, Calvary Church, Pittsburgh Pa.

Marriage is, of course, as old as the race, and from earliest times man has established customs and ceremonies in connection with it. Christianity began when "the Word was made flesh," and it has been a part of the genius of Christianity to lift and ennoble all natural things. We believe intensely in the sacramental character of marriage - as a natural thing which is transformed by the touch of God, and as one of the ways in which God makes Himself known in the world.

The marriage service carries more than the rite by which two persons are united: it carries also the Christian philosophy of marriage. It is "holy matrimony" in which they are to be joined. It is an "honourable estate." It was "instituted of God." It signifies to us "the mystical union that is betwixt Christ and His Church." And St. Paul commends it as being "honourable among all men." It would be difficult to think of a higher conception of marriage than this.

Then the service goes on, "and therefore is not by any to be entered into unadvisedly or lightly; but reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God." Here is set forth the frame of mind in which marriage is to be undertaken. The three points seems to be: seriousness, which considers how important a step marriage is; wisdom, which looks all round the picture before taking the step; and faith, which acts in this great matter only with the approval and help of God.

Four Tests

We might, in the light of this very clear philosophy, see what are the tests for a true marriage to be undertaken.

The first is the mutual attraction of human love - the natural side of marriage. That attraction includes physical, intellectual, and social factors, and they should all be there. The emotional factors are likely to be more prominent in the early stages and the social and intellectual deepen with time. No marriage is complete without real human love, and no marriage long remains complete which is based upon attraction alone. In days like ours, when the ties of marriage are so lightly broken, there is more danger that physical and emotional factors be considered the only ones that matter, and if these decline, to look upon the marriage as a failure.

The second test is the bond of common interests. Of course, differing interests enrich a marriage if there is a basic unity and loyalty, but some common concern is essential. Children may provide it, but sometimes children suffer the consequences of parents' not having found it.

The basic factor in loyalty to each other is loyalty to God.

The one Power that can cement a relationship, giving it one common purpose, and changing differences to enrichments instead of barriers, is God. Every human relation, but especially marriage, should be, not like two dots at the end of a line, but like two angles at the base of a triangle, with God as the apex.

The third test then becomes the readiness of each person to take full spiritual responsibility for the other person. This implies a maturity that can only come from a real experience of God in one's own life. It requires an objectivity that is not influenced by emotional factors, nor those of self-interest, but sees the other person clearly, lovingly, and creatively. In this sense, no one is fit for marriage who is not fully adult; and no one is fully adult who is not spiritually changed.

That is why so many marriages fail today - the parties are so immature, so selfish, so unschooled in real living that they cannot take spiritual responsibility for one another or for their children. That is why the proportion of marriages that succeed between definitely religious people is so vastly higher than those between people who care nothing for God. God in your life means maturity. Maturity is the basis for responsibility. The willingness and some capacity to take spiritual responsibility for the other person are part of the tests for a thoroughly happy and unselfish marriage.

The fourth test of whether a marriage is intended between two people lies in whether it makes them love other people more, or love them less. Show me a love that is today so selfish it wants to feed only upon itself, and share none of its happiness with others, and I will show you a marriage that will be tomorrow so selfish it will sicken of its own satiety, and someone will want to turn elsewhere for more selfish pleasure. A really great human love does not drain off all one's affections in one direction; it increases and enhances one's love for all.

Unlimited Number

Every man and wife should be "father" and "mother" to many besides their own children, and every home should be the joy of many beside the family that lives in it. That kind of unselfishness should be in a relationship from the beginning; and if it is not there, it should be sought as essential to a true, happy, lasting, and creative marriage.

How, then, can we create Christian homes?

First, they must have God at the head of them. Not father or mother - important as their responsibility is; not some yammering youngster; not somebody's temper, or somebody's tears. But God the head, the deciding factor. They must be homes where God is talked about, loved, and His will sought by all. Human nature being what it is, there are bound to be clashes of temperament and differences of opinion. We do not want homes where there is so much law that there is no freedom. Neither do we want homes where there is so much freedom that there is no law.

Third Presbyterian Parish Marriages 1949-1966

Second, we need homes that are characterized by homely virtues. Thrift needs to come into many homes; not niggardliness, but economy which will make more generosity possible, using all of everything. Hospitality must be there, open hearts and open doors, not selfish retiring into our own privacy all the time, but sharing our food and friendship with others. Responsibility is needed, everyone with some home duties which he fulfills, which gets the work done and makes all feel needed and useful. Honesty is essential, honesty about money, and about deeper feelings.

Third, they must be homes where people are growing spiritually. Unless you have a spiritual motivation, unless God is in your life, working with you, helping you to grow, you become an unutterable bore, a continuous repetition of yourself. When no one in the family can get after you for your moods or your habits, when you have fenced yourself off from corrective from God and the people nearest you, you are dead inside and might as well be dead outside. Only God keeps people growing. And only growing, being more and more different from our old selfish selves, keeps us from being impossible to live with.

Fourth, they should be homes where other people find new life and spirit. If two people, and their children, are under God, there will be something attractive and creative about the home in which they live. When God is present there is no missing Him. Surely He wants to use the homes He has blessed, that other homes may be blessed through them.

Homes like these become the answer to the prayer near the end of the marriage service: "Look mercifully upon these thy servants, that they may love, honor, and cherish each other, and so live together in faithfulness and patience, in wisdom and true godliness, that their home may be a haven of blessing and of peace."

Third Presbyterian Parish Marriages 1949-1966

SESSION GUIDELINES FOR WEDDINGS (NON-MEMBER FAMILIES)

Third Presbyterian Church
Rochester, New York

USE OF FACILITIES

Non-members of Third Church who wish to use the facilities of the church or chapel must confer with one of the ministers of Third Church to arrange the date, time, and place for the wedding. If a member of the clergy not on the staff of Third Church is to participate, he or she should be invited by the minister of Third Church who is making the arrangements. The Third Church minister will direct the rehearsal.

FEES

The following charges have been set for the use of the church facilities: Church, $150.00; Chapel, $125.00. If the wedding involves considerably less or more than the usual time or effort, the amounts may be decreased or increased accordingly, in consultation with the minister. The check in the appropriate amount made out to "Third Presbyterian Church" noting on it the name of the bride, must be mailed to the church Financial Office before the rehearsal. In addition, it is customary to offer the officiating minister an honorarium.

MUSIC

The Organist of the church or a substitute of his choice shall play for all services. Since the marriage service is an act of worship, only sacred music shall be played or sung. The organist has the responsibility for approving the music to be used, and can suggest appropriate selections.

RECEPTIONS

The facilities of the church are not available to non-members for receptions.

FLOWERS

In both Church and Chapel the only flowers to be placed in the chancel are those used in the vases. The florist will provide crash and aisle ribbons and can advise about an awning; if these are desired.

CANDLES

When aisle candles are desired in the church, holders and candles will be provided by Third Church. Aisle candles may not be used in the chapel. The church can provide seven branched candelabra. If they are to be used in either church or chapel, the florist is to provide non-drip candles for them.

PHOTOGRAPHS

The photographer may take flash photographs before and after the wedding in the narthex of the church. Time exposures may be taken from the church balcony and from the narthex door of the chapel during the service. No other photography is permitted. After the recessional, the wedding party may reassemble for pictures in the chancel. It is the responsibility of the bride to make these regulations clear to the photographer.

CHAPEL ADDRESS

For the convenience of guests attending weddings in the chapel, the wedding invitations should note the place of the wedding as the Chapel of Third Presbyterian Church, East Avenue at Arnold Park.

RICE OR CONFETTI

May not be used in the building. Their use is discouraged outside.
