Webster Post

Sep 1995

Members of Webster Baptist Church posed for this picture in June of 1944 to continue a church tradition. Leaders are planning another photograph on Sunday, Sept. 17, after services. Members are asked to wear their Sunday best and bring a smile.

Making memories at Webster Baptist Church

Sunday, Sept. 17, will be a special day at the Webster Baptist Church.

On that day the church will be reviving a century-old tradition, that of taking a group picture of its members and friends. This tradition will take place again after the 10 a.m. worship service.

Taking the photo will be Mike Hager of the Museum Photographers of Rochester. The front lawn of the 140-year-old landmark church has been the site of similar group pictures taken in 1928, 1935, and 1944. These pictures are currently framed and hanging in the hall outside the church office.

Two years ago Hager copied and enlarged early photographs of the church. He also copied many turn-of-the-century photographs which are now on display in the memory room, as well as hundreds of photographs of Webster taken from plate glass negatives for the town and village.

In addition to the group photo, that same day will be "Be a Friend Sunday," the kickoff of the church school year.

Sunday, Sept. 3, is also designated as a special time to recognize and honor the church's senior members. Seniors will be honored during the worship service as well as at the luncheon following the photo session in the Fellowship Hall.

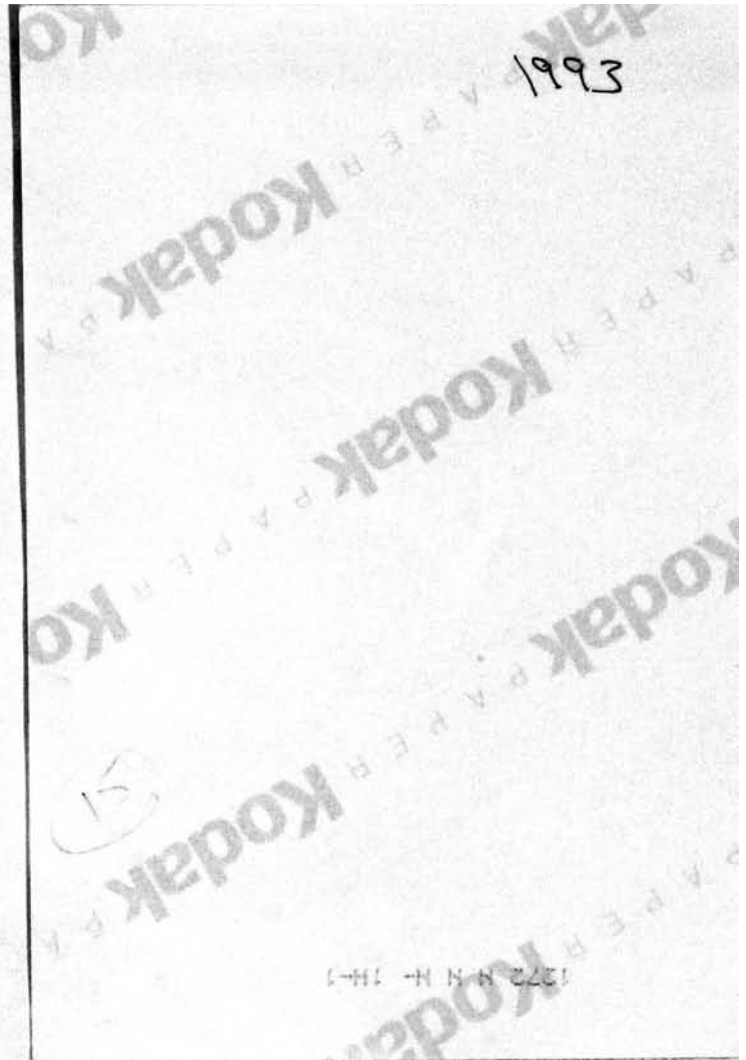

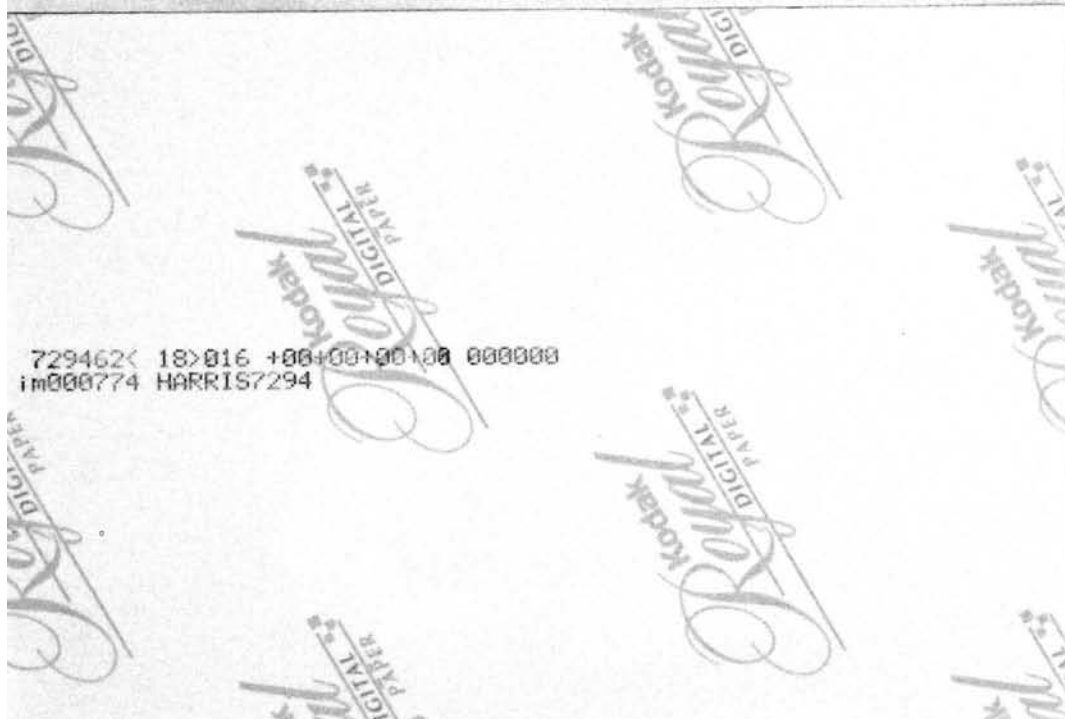

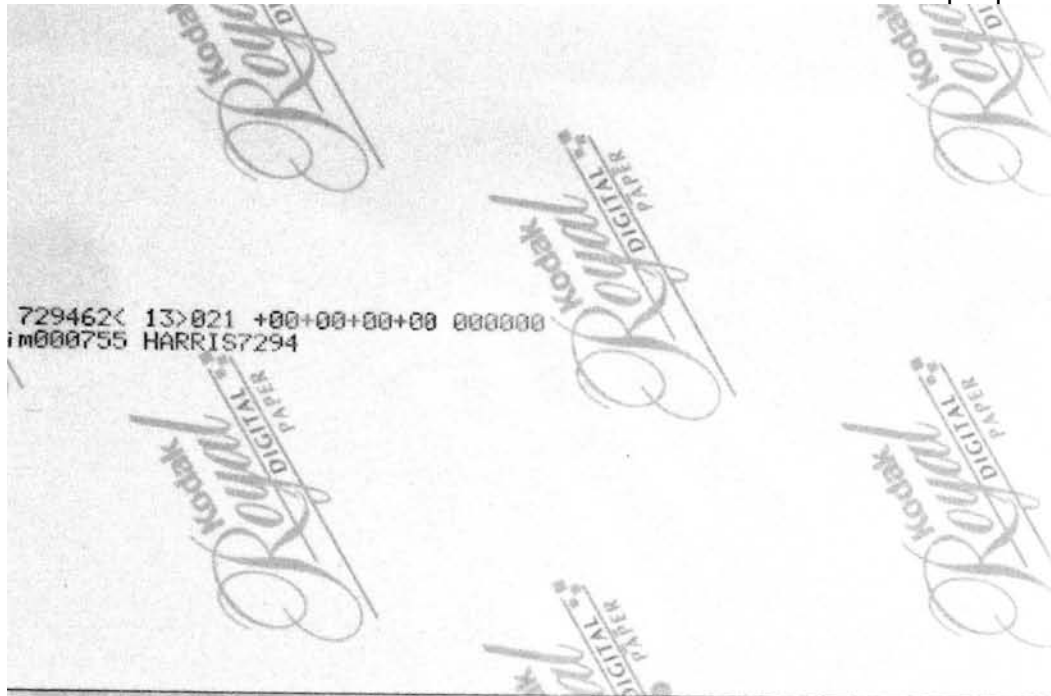

Those who are not seniors are asked to bring sandwiches for their families and an extra one for the senior guests, along with a salad to pass, and table service. Lemonade, coffee, tea, and desserts will be furnished. The children also will try to make this day for seniors a memorable one by making the desserts.

All are invited to come and participate. For more information, call the church at 265-9480.

*But Easter-Day breaks!
Christ rises! Mercy every way
Is Infinite.*

—Robert Browning.

AS THAT first Easter Day advanced, four women — Joanna, Mary the mother of James, Salome, and Mary of Magdala—hurried to the house of the disciples. They had seen their Master, risen from the dead! The disciples, harried with anxiety, and perplexed by the events of the past week, listened with impatience. They feared it was only the talk of emotional, over-wrought women who were imagining what they hoped might be. They believed in the conventional way of the time that the spiritual world was at some immeasurably remote distance, instead of being a state of existence that might be about them.

The resurrection of Jesus, though we may not comprehend its mystery, is the pledge that those who partake of his spirit have passed from death to life. The experience through which Jesus' followers passed, in the days shortly following the crucifixion of their Master, convinced them that their Leader was alive, that he was still among them, that he was going forward with his saving program through them. His mission, which had seemed to be ruined by the cross, was not destroyed, but only beginning; and the spirit of Jesus was present in them and in all whom they might persuade to share his conviction and experience, moving them to bear their witness by character, by word and deed to the reality of all that Jesus had stood for.

Jesus is not dead, but is a living and present force in our lives. He comes when we turn away from all that is unChristlike, and, believing in the divine forgiveness, devote ourselves without reserve to the furthering of the kingdom-enterprise of Jesus. Only then will Jesus live, and will we enter deeply into the beauty and meaning of Easter.

Florence Lergner - Date
UNKNOWN

March 1, 1960

Florence Thompson Lergner was born in Watertown, Jefferson county, March 1, 1876. When very young she moved with her parents to William son, Wayne County, where she and her young brother attended school and enjoyed a large circle of friends. When ^{she was} about sixteen years of age the family moved to Rochester and Florence very happily began working in the first Woolworth store opened in that city. This was a real experience for, at that time few girls were employed in stores.

Later Florence Sadden married Myron Thompson, of Ontario, Wayne county, and two sons, both now living, were welcomed to that home. Today she proudly claims four grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Asked about her hobbies she replied that always her home was her hobby for she delighted in being a home keeper. She loved flowers and found time for their promotional care. Also she played the piano and her cultivated contralto voice gave pleasure not only to her family and friends, but real service to her church and in many public programs.

Five delightful vacation trips have taken her to California and she has also visited many points of interest in her own home state.

Her second husband James Lergner, died in 1937. She has been a permanent resident of the Baptist Home since 1951. Her church membership is with Webster Baptist Church.
